Regional Development Australia Mid North Coast is seeking new Board members

3 March 2026

Regional Development Australia Mid North Coast (RDAMNC) is calling for expressions of interest from passionate and skilled individuals to join its Board and help shape the economic future of the Mid North Coast, Lord Howe and Norfolk Island regions.

RDAMNC is seeking board members who will be active drivers of economic growth, innovation and entrepreneurship across the region. This is an opportunity to make a genuine difference in building prosperity and opportunity for local communities.

Board members will work collaboratively to deliver high-value outcomes for the region, leveraging existing networks and developing new connections across industry sectors and diverse communities. The position requires individuals who are knowledgeable about the economic, social, cultural and environmental opportunities and challenges facing the Mid North Coast, and who can act as strong advocates for regional development.

RDAMNC is seeking applicants who have leadership experience and understanding of governance principles, a track record of delivering outcomes in complex environments, strong stakeholder engagement capabilities, commitment to the Mid North Coast region, experience fostering respectful relationships with diverse communities, particularly First Nations people and the ability to represent and collaborate with integrity, transparency and accountability. RDAMNC actively encourages applications from women, First Nations Australians, people from diverse cultural backgrounds, and people with disability.

Louise McMeeking, Chair of RDAMNC says "Lead local progress. Bring your ideas to the table – become a board member".

Regional Development Australia (RDA) is an Australian Government initiative that brings together all levels of government to support economic development, community engagement and regional planning. RDA Mid North Coast works to strengthen communities and drive sustainable economic growth across the region.

Applications are now open with appointments being for an initial 12 month term.
